It is not recommended (or priced) as a long-term alternative to mainstream support packages and is limited to customers with an active migration project.

8.4.1.3. Customer's Production Environment configuration must remain substantially unaltered and Customer's computer environment must not expand significantly. Customer agrees that significant increases in the number of users and logins per second may result in degradation of system performance. In such instances, Extended Support will be limited to environmental tuning investigations and recommendations. In addition, Customer agrees that system performance may be degraded by Customer-installed third-party applications that share the computer resources (e.g., CPU, memory, ports) with the Supported Superseded Product;

8.4.1.4. Extended Support does not include any software patches, fixes, code changes, product enhancement or design changes (collectively "Code Changes"). ENTRUST

- 8.4.1.5. Third party technology may be embedded in the Supported Superseded Product. Entrust's support arrangements with such third-party technology providers may terminate or expire. - 8.4.1.6. Commercially reasonable efforts will be made to provide Extended Support assistance with (i) problems related to third party products integrated with the Supported Superseded Product (existing integrations only), an (ii) Supported Superseded Product operating on discontinued operating system (OS) platforms or bundled with discontinued third party web browsers, web servers, application servers, repositories or other software;

Customer acknowledges and accepts the risk of using versions of Covered Offerings beyond their normal support period; and
- 8.4.1.10. Hardware Repair or Replacement Option. Customer shall receive the Hardware Repair Advance Replacement Option (see Section 8.3.3.1.2 above) as part of Extended Support. Notwithstanding the terms in Section 8.3.3.1.2, Entrust reserves the right to supply the "nearest equivalent" product in the event that a failed product is no longer available. The replacement may be a newer generation of the product than the failed item, and this is therefore reflected in the charges for the Extended Support. Entrust may also address Security vulnerabilities by replacing the affected unit(s) with the "nearest equivalent" current generation product available on products that have reached the end of mainstream support.

8.5. Additional Costs.
