1. Trial Services; Scope

1.1 Trial Access. Subject to this Agreement and the usage limitations set forth in this Section 1, Onfido LTD or another Entrust affiliate, as identified during account registration, or, if none is identified, the Entrust affiliate identified in Section 11.4 for the region in which Customer is located ("Entrust" and, together with Customer, the "Parties" and each a "Party") grants Customer a limited, non-exclusive, non-transferable, non-sublicensable, revocable right to access and use (a) the Entrust identity verification services and features made available through the trial (the "Trial Services" or "Services"), (b) any user manuals, handbooks, and guides provided by Entrust relating to the Services (if any) (the "Documentation"), and (c) any software development kits, libraries, sample code, and API keys that Entrust makes available for the trial (the "SDKs"), including the right to install and integrate the SDKs into Customer's applications, in each case solely for Customer's internal evaluation purposes during the Trial Period (defined in Section 10). Customer may use the Services and Documentation only to evaluate and test the Services to determine whether to enter into a commercial agreement with Entrust. Customer will not use the Services or Documentation for any other purpose. Access to the Services may be provided in a live production environment or a test or sandbox environment (a "Sandbox"), in Entrust's sole discretion. Results returned in a Sandbox environment may be simulated or predetermined, may not reflect the performance of the Services in a production environment, and are intended only for testing Customer's integration and workflows. This Agreement does not grant any commercial rights, and any continued access to or use of the Services following the Trial Period is subject to the Parties entering into a separate written commercial agreement.

1.2 Usage Limitations. The Trial Services may be subject to usage limits (e.g., number of checks, API calls, or features) as specified in the trial registration interface, the Documentation, the account portal, or the Services, or as otherwise communicated to Customer. Entrust may modify these limits at any time in its sole discretion.

1.3 Use Restrictions. Customer shall not, and shall not permit any Authorized User or third party to, at any time, directly or indirectly: (i) copy, modify, or create derivative works of the Services or Documentation, in whole or in part, except as necessary to integrate the SDKs as permitted by Section 1.1; (ii) rent, lease, lend, sell, license, sublicense, assign, distribute, publish, transfer, or otherwise make available the Services or Documentation, other than to Authorized Users under Section 1.5; (iii) reverse engineer, disassemble, decompile, decode, adapt, or otherwise attempt to derive or gain access to any software component of the Services, in whole or in part; (iv) remove any proprietary notices from the Services or Documentation; (v) use the Services or Documentation in any manner or for any purpose that infringes, misappropriates, or otherwise violates any intellectual property right or other right of any person, or that violates any applicable law; (vi) access or use the Services to build or improve a competing product or service; (vii) publish or disclose the results of any benchmark, accuracy, or performance testing of the Services without Entrust's prior written consent; (viii) submit to the Sandbox for verification any identity document, image, video, biometric data, or other Personal Data relating to a real individual, other than Personal Data of Authorized Users or of Customer's end users ("Users") who have received all notices and given all consents required by applicable law, including Biometric Privacy Laws, and who have accepted Entrust's biometric notice and consent in the Sandbox capture flow; (ix) attempt to exceed or circumvent any usage limit, access control, or security measure of the Services, or perform any penetration, vulnerability, or load testing of the Services; or (x) upload or transmit any malware or other malicious code to the Services.

1.4 Reservation of Rights. Entrust reserves all rights not expressly granted to Customer in this Agreement. Except for the limited rights and licenses expressly granted under this Agreement, nothing in this Agreement grants, by implication, waiver, estoppel, or otherwise, to Customer or any third party, any intellectual property rights or other right, title, or interest in or to the Services, the Documentation, or any and all intellectual property provided to Customer in connection with the foregoing ("Entrust IP").

1.5 Authorized Users; Account Security. Customer may permit its employees and contractors to use the Services on its behalf ("Authorized Users"). Customer is responsible for its Authorized Users' compliance with this Agreement and for all activity under its account. Customer shall keep its account credentials and API keys confidential and shall promptly notify Entrust of any actual or suspected unauthorized access to its account.

1.6 Suspension; Changes to the Services. Entrust may suspend or limit Customer's access to the Services, immediately and with or without notice, if Entrust reasonably believes that Customer has breached Section 1.3 or Section 5.5, that Customer's use of the Services poses a security, legal, or operational risk to Entrust or any third party, or that suspension is required by law. Entrust may modify, suspend, or discontinue the Trial Services, in whole or in part, at any time.

2. Existing Agreements

2.1 Existing Agreement Scope. If Customer and Entrust are parties to an existing written agreement governing Entrust products or services (an "Existing Agreement"), that Existing Agreement continues to apply to all products and services covered by it. This Agreement governs solely Customer's access to and use of the Trial Services.

2.2 Order of Precedence, Application of Existing Terms. In the event of any conflict between this Agreement and an Existing Agreement with respect to the Trial Services, this Agreement controls.

3. Fees

3.1 Evaluation Fee. The Parties agree that no fees will be payable under this Agreement in exchange for the access granted under this Agreement. Customer acknowledges and agrees that this fee arrangement is made in consideration of the mutual covenants set forth in this Agreement, including, without limitation, the disclaimers, exclusions, and limitations of liability set forth herein.

4. Confidentiality

4.1 Confidential Information. From time to time in connection with this Agreement or the Trial Services, whether before or during the Trial Period, either Party may disclose or make available to the other Party information about its business affairs, products, confidential intellectual property, trade secrets, third-party confidential information, and other sensitive or proprietary information, whether or not marked, designated, or otherwise identified as "confidential" (collectively, "Confidential Information"). Entrust's Confidential Information includes the Services, the Documentation, and any non-public information about the features, performance, or pricing of the Services. Confidential Information does not include information that: (a) is or becomes generally available to the public through no fault of the receiving Party; (b) was known to the receiving Party at the time of disclosure without an obligation of confidentiality; (c) is rightfully obtained by the receiving Party on a non-confidential basis from a third party; or (d) is independently developed by the receiving Party without use of or reference to the disclosing Party's Confidential Information. The receiving Party shall use the disclosing Party's Confidential Information only to exercise its rights or perform its obligations under this Agreement, and shall protect it with at least the degree of care it uses for its own confidential information of a similar nature, and no less than reasonable care. The receiving Party shall not disclose the disclosing Party's Confidential Information to any person or entity, except to the receiving Party's employees, contractors, and professional advisors (and, in the case of Entrust, its affiliates and sub-processors) who have a need to know the Confidential Information for the receiving Party to exercise its rights or perform its obligations hereunder and who are bound by confidentiality obligations no less protective than those in this Section 4. Notwithstanding the foregoing, each Party may disclose Confidential Information to the limited extent required (i) in order to comply with the order of a court or other governmental body, or as otherwise necessary to comply with applicable law, provided that, to the extent legally permitted, the Party making the disclosure pursuant to the order shall first have given written notice to the other Party and made a reasonable effort to obtain a protective order; or (ii) to establish a Party's rights under this Agreement, including to make required court filings. On the expiration or termination of the Agreement and upon the disclosing Party's request, the receiving Party shall promptly return to the disclosing Party all copies, whether in written, electronic, or other form or media, of the disclosing Party's Confidential Information, or destroy all such copies and certify in writing to the disclosing Party that such Confidential Information has been destroyed, except that the receiving Party may retain copies to the extent required by law or held in routine backup systems, which remain subject to this Section 4 for as long as they are retained. Personal Data is governed by Section 5 and the DPA. Each Party's obligations under this Section 4 are effective as of the Effective Date and will expire five years from the date first disclosed to the receiving Party; provided, however, with respect to any Confidential Information that constitutes a trade secret (as determined under applicable law), such obligations will survive the termination or expiration of this Agreement for as long as such Confidential Information remains subject to trade secret protection under applicable law.
